Online training

An alternative way to study your course with SSG

What is online learning?

Our portfolio of open online courses provides a great alternative to classroom training enabling you to train your team wherever they are based. Delegates can log on and attend a live training session with other individuals either in the same location or across the country. We can also offer this option for private courses, enabling you to continue training your whole team.

Our facilities

We pride ourselves on our high standard of delivery across all platforms - whether classroom based or online. Over the last 12 months we have created purpose built video conferencing training rooms, invested in a range of new equipment to ensure online training is interactive and engaging, and have worked with our team to adapt and develop the best delivery methods possible.

What are the benefits of online learning for you?

Location

Individual delegates or groups from a variety of locations can come together to achieve their qualification without the need to travel to a central point.

Efficiency

Reduced travel can benefit both delegate and company as you can log in to your course from your home, office, or on site with minimal disruption. It also means on some shorter courses, delegates can return to work straight after a course rather than travelling to another location.

Convenience

Online training has proved to be particularly beneficial during such times when you cannot leave your home or can only travel for work purposes. Also for those who previously were unable to get to a training venue, they can now receive the same high quality standard of training wherever they are.

Interaction

At SSG we acknowledge that people learn best through interaction which is why we ensure our online courses are fully interactive - it's like being in the classroom! Delegates are continually encouraged to engage with other attendees as well as the tutor throughout courses, including asking questions and providing feedback.

We have great technology support

We understand that technology can be temperamental and every delegate has a different level of technological experience. To ensure courses run as smoothly as possible, we have a Technology and Systems team who are always on hand to help.

The team works closely with our tutors to ensure that delegates are getting the best online training experience possible.
